The CoRe Study began in 2020 with a collaboration between the research team at Virginia Commonwealth University and the Recovery Science Research Collaborative. We aim to understand the experiences of students in recovery, what aspects of CRPs are working well, and what could be improved. We collect survey data from interested students who are 18 years of age or older and affiliated with participating collegiate recovery programs in the US and abroad.

For CRP Directors

Established program at four-year university or college? Become a study recruitment site! Participating CRPs get annual overall and school-specific* reports. Use the QR code below or email the research team to learn how you can join.
* Programs with 10+ total participants

For Researchers

We love collaborators! Please use the QR code below or email the research team to learn more about how you can get access to our free, de-identified longitudinal data for your project. Have an idea but need some help implementing it? Reach out to our team to chat!
